
If You're Not Being Pushed, You're Being Pulled

We hear the word faith quite a bit, particularly this time of year. Whether your faith is in God, leadership, or in others; faith is the strong belief or trust in someone or something without proof or evidence. Acting on faith takes a lot of trust. To have faith we must accept the unknown and believe in things we can't always see. This is difficult but can be transforming.

I know first hand that having faith can change your life. I believe that everything happens for a reason and God will never give me more than I can handle. Having the confidence that I'm doing the right thing and trusting in a higher power removes the burdens, freeing me from resentment and negativity, allowing me to focus on doing the things that make me successful, personally and professionally. Billy Graham wrote "The greatest legacy one can pass on to one's children and grandchildren is not money or material things accumulated in one's life, but rather the legacy of character and faith."

Faith is not just the cornerstone of religion; it is also a key to success in business. To be successful we must have faith in others and ourselves. Faith that what we are doing will result in success. We need to believe that we are doing the right thing, even when it's not the easy thing to do, and trust that others are doing the right thing too. In it's simplest form, faith is doing our part and trusting others to do theirs.

This week have FAITH. Believe in yourself and those around you, and trust that you will be guided to success. It just takes faith! Make this week count.
